Dear Parents / Carers,

I wanted to personally introduce myself before breaking up for the summer break. I am Mrs Taylor, the new Headteacher for Ramsey Grammar School. I have worked as a Headteacher in England for 12 years in two different schools for students aged 11 to 18.

My view is that education is a true gift and I am committed to empowering students and staff so that they can work together to create inspiring experiences allowing every student to feel confident to move on to destinations of their choice. Your son/daughter joins secondary school as a child and leaves as a young adult facing many personal, social, emotional and academic changes along the way. It is a schools job to support, encourage and inspire students every step of the way by setting high expectations and instilling a strong sense of self-belief and pride as teachers and staff take them on their journey of self-discovery and personal growth.

I have so much to learn about the school and the community and want to know your thoughts too. In September I will write to you with dates and times where you are welcome to join me and other members of the team to share your insights and give suggestions for how we can further improve the great education the school provides to your child/ren. Until then, enjoy the summer break and I look forward to meeting you and working with you from September.

Very best wishes,

Mrs S Taylor
